

Never Too Late to Live the Life You Love

Sophia Ellen Falke

A published author and motivational speaker, Sophia Falke has inspired groups throughout the United States to get in touch with the life they are meant to live.

Based on overcoming her own personal challenges, Sophia brings to each seminar her belief that everyone has greatness within them and can (and should) celebrate and live their own unique greatness. With wit and wisdom, she takes her audiences through a practical, proven process that inspires and guides participants to achieve success in all their endeavors.

Sophia's style is personable and straight-forward. She creates a sense of spaciousness in each interaction, whether one-on-one or at a conference, corporate function, seminar, or professional exposition.

With over 30 years experience in the nonprofit, private, and public sectors where she served on leadership teams that transformed their organizations, Sophia excels in communication, consciousness raising, and creativity and is a certified Life Mastery Consultant.
